Excellence in Decommissioning Award 2020

This award recognises a company that is leading the way in how we do decommissioning in the UK.

AWARD CRITERIA:

Decommissioning is coming of age in the North Sea and the UK is already leading the way with some major decommissioning projects complete and others getting under way. The Excellence in Decommissioning Award will recognise the winning formula a company has employed in pursuing the potential £50 billion home market over the next 30 years and those who are seeking to use their UK experience to access the global decommissioning market.

- Nominees are invited to provide a written submission or presentation demonstrating how they have contributed to decommissioning excellence. Applications will be judged on evidence of combining safety and environmental performance, use of technology and innovation, and cost effectiveness in ongoing or imminent decommissioning projects. Special recognition will be given to those companies that have demonstrated industry collaboration and actively shared learning across industry to improve outcomes and promote capabilities.
